Form 990 p 2: Line 4b Description-1

INCIID THE HEART:

A program established in 2004 to assist infertile couples who are trying to build a family. The costs associates with in vitro fertilization (IVF) and other medical treatments for infertility, the fact most insurance companies do not provide coverage for many types of fertility treatments, and the cost of alternatives such as adoption, leaves many couples suffering from infertility with little hope for realizing their dreams of a family. INCIID, as the world's leading infertility consumer advocate and provider of information and support related to fertility, family-building and pregnancy loss, has launched a program to assist those without financial means. The program provides a scholarship for donated medical services to worthy recipients who do not have insurance to cover the IVF procedure. 48 IVF cycles were awarded in 2008. The first baby born with the help of this program was born October 31, 2005.
